President Cleveland's last New Year reception at the White House a most brilliant affair. The attendance never was greater. Costumes of the ladies exceedingly brilliant. Breakfast for the diplomats at Secretary Bayard's. Decorations at the White House man, Palmer, Manderson, Davis and Teller, and Representatives Burrows, Johnson, Kilgore, Payson, Herbert, Wilkins, Jackson, Mills, Cannon, Thompson of California, Wheeler, Cowies, Bacon, Mansur, Yoder, Ketcham, Farquhar, Lyman, Lodge, Sowden, Thompson of Ohio, Martin, Gear, Baker, Ryan, Morrow and Cutcheon.

The Congresional delegation was followed closely by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, officers of the Smithsonian Institution and of all the executive departments. Among these walked Assistant Secretaries Thompson and Maynard, General Stevenson, General Knott, Assistant Secretaries Rives and Adee, Solicitor General Jenks, Prof. Gallaudet, Librarian Spofford, and Commissioners, Cooley, Bragg and the most claborate floral decorations were in the cast room, where the visitors spent a few minutes in social converse, after having paid their respects. The mantels were banked with bright-hued flowers and festoms of grasses, and ferns were suspended from the large chandeliers.

Jenks, Prof. Gallaudet, Librarian Spofford, and Commissioners, Cooley, Bragg and Schoommaker, of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. The close of the official line was composed of the veterans of the Oldest Unhabitants' Association.

So far the reception had occupied over an hour and a half, and the President and Mrs. Cleveland half, and the President and Mrs.

Tall palms were placed in the window repalm of different hues. Part of the lower floor was illuminated by gas, but the sun-light was given full play in the east room. The weather was bright, sunshiny and cool, and, in fact, everything was most au-

THE RECEPTION COMMENCES.

The reception began at 11 o'clock, at which hour the receiving party descended the stairs and took their places in the blue parlor. As they appeared in sight the Marine Band, which was stationed in the main hall, started "Hail to the Chief," and continued playing it until the party had taken their positions. A passage way was made for them through the crowd that had al-ready gathered in the house. They came in the following order: Colonel Wilson and Lieutenant Duval, of the army; the Presi-dent and Miss Bayard, Secretary Bayard and Mrs. Cleveland, Secretary Fairchild and Mrs. Whitney; Secretary Endicott and Mrs. Fairchild, Secretary Whitney and Mrs. Dickinson, and Secretary Vilas and Postmaster General Dickinson They took their places with the President and Mrs. Cleveland first in line, and then Miss Bayard, Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. Whit-ney and Mrs. Dickinson, in the order named. ouped behind them were a number of invited guests, including Mrs. Folsom, Miss Mary Hastings, Miss Carrie Hastings, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Chief Justice Fuller, Mrs. Speaker Carlisle, Miss Florence Bayard, Miss Vilas, Miss Pauline Whitney. Mrs. Lamont, Mrs. Lincklaen, Mr. George Ban-croft, Hon. Hugh McCuiloch and Mrs. Mcson, Mrs. Marshal Wilson, Miss Mary Wilson, Mrs. Senator Butler, Mrs. Senator Call, Mrs. Cockrell, Mrs. Daniel, Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. Pugh, Miss Voorbees, Mrs. Walthall, Mrs. A. Lee Knott, Mr. Lucius Tuckerman, Mr. Sam G. Ward, Mrs. John F. Rodgers, Mrs. McAdoe, Mrs. John E. Russell, Miss Randall, Mrs. Springer, Mrs. R. W. Town-shend, Miss Leiter, Miss Howard, Miss Thoron, Mrs. Gouverneur Morris, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin McVeagh, Mr and Mrs. Glenny, of Buffalo, and Judge Daly, of New York.

SOME OF THE COSTUMES.

The President wore a black Prince Albert suit, with a black tie. Mrs. Cleveland wore a besutiful robe of pale pink faille, made with round train, the corsage rounded at the top, and short sleeves. The front of the skirt was draped in silver embroidered net either side were plain panels of soft French gray silk, embroidered in a pattern of rosebuds in silver. The back of the panels was edged with heavy Russian fur that commenced at the waist line and continued around the pink train. The back of the dress was princess shaped, with pink folds on the waist, fastened with pearl embroidery. The front was jacket shaped, rounded, and fell over the full vest of pink silk, draped with white net. The sleeves of pink were short cuffs, edged on the arm with pearl bands. The low body was edged with heavy She wore a diamond necklace and a diamond star in her hair, that was dressed in loops on top of her head. Her gloves were soft pearl color.

Miss Bayard, who stood next, wore a short dress of blue brocade, with pointed hody, back and front, upon which were laid folds of gauze. Sprays of white lilac adorned the body, and a kirtle of gauze was draped about the upper part of the skirt. The sleeves were cut to the elbow, and her hair was dressed high with a blue feather. DRESSES OF SECRETARIES' WIVES.

Mrs. Fairchild wore a trained dress of plain colored silk, the body cut low, and the train was of the silk. The front was draped with frills of lace, and the petticoat of dull white satin. Across the front of the low body was tied a fichu of lace, knotted at one

Mrs. Whitney wore a superb gown of white brocade, made with a high bodice and a train. Down the front of the bodice and skirt were folds of vellow satin and gold embroidery. The high collar was fastened with a three-stone diamond pin. She wore a great diamond star in the gold embroidery

Mrs. Dickinson's dress was pale green silk, embroidered in silver, with a train of the same material. The front was draped in pale green tulle, and the low body was draped in tulle. She were a black ribbon who will be punished if caught. It is believed that the hear was the way to be the believed that the hear was the way. about her throat.

The usual Cabinet receptions were held this afternoon. The British Legation was represented by Mr. Michael Herbert, Charge d'Affaires, and Mr. George Barclay. The most striking costumes were those worn by the representatives of China, Russia, France and Corea. Hadje Hassien Khuli Khan, the new Persian, however, attracted the most attention. The column was headed by Count Fave, the Italian Minister, the oldest, in point of residence, at this capital, of those in attendance. It was explained that Mr. accustomed place at the head of the line by reason of pressing business which required his presence in New York.

A BREAKFAST AT BAYARD'S. Secretary Bayard presented the diplomats to the President and Mrs. Cleveland, and then departed to his residence, to preside at the United States Consul at St. Johns, N. a breakfast given in their honor. He left Y., stating that the American brig Atalaya, the White House in company with his daughters. Colonel Wilson and Lieutenant phia, is a total loss at Renews. The capdaughters. dence by ill health.

The next feature of the reception—the army and navy—was probably the most interesting of all. The army officers were first presented. The recent affliction in the family of Major General Schofield, commanding the army, prevented his presence, and the line was headed by Brigadier General Hagner (retired), Brigadier General Benet, Chief of Ordnance, the senior ranking officers in the city. Nearly all the officers stationed in this vicinity were present, cers stationed in this vicinity were present, and of course all were in full uniform. Among those in line were Generals Drum, Kelton, MacFeely, Baird, McKeever and many younger officers, who have made records in campaigns against the Indians. The column of naval officers was headed by Rear Admiral Russell and Commodores Walker, Sicard, Melville and Colonel Me-Cawley, occupied places near the head of the CONGRESSMEN NOT SO PLENTY. Senators and Representatives were assigned a place ahead of the army and navy, but they were nearly all late and took places wherever most convenient. They were less in number than usual. Among them were Senators Daniels, Cockrell, Call, Paddock, Payne, Morrill, Walthall, Sherman, Palmer, Manderson, Davis and Teller, and Representatives Burgues, Johnson Killand Representatives Ruppers, Johnson Killand.

Cleveland had kept up a constant hand-Tall palms were placed in the window recesses and in the corners, and tropical plants of all kinds lined the corridor running through the center of the house. The large divan in the east room was ornamented with a beautiful vase containing a large palm of different hues. Part of the lower sion during the present administration.

The reception closed at 2 o'clock, and a few guests invited by the President joined the receiving party in a light lunch served in the upper corridor.

MAYOR ROCHE'S REPLY.

He Outlines a New Line of Action in Regard to Anarchistic Meetings-The History of the Haymarket Must

Not be Repeated. CHICAGO, January 1 .- The New Year was opened in Chicago by Mayor Roche grappling promptly with the latest phase of the Anarchist problem. The new development was the decision by Master in Chancery Windes the last day of the old year that the Anarchists, under the name of the Arbeiter Bund, had a right to hold their meetings, but declining to recommend their meetings, but declining to recommend an injunction restraining the police from interfering with gatherings, although suggesting that one might not improperly be granted by higher authority.

The next move on the premises, it was generally expected, would be an elaborate decision by Judge Tuley on the report of Master Windes. Mayor Roche to-day took time by the forelock by making the Muster's report a text for a letter of instructions to the police department as follows: to the police department as follows:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CHICAGO, January 1, 1889. George W. Hubbard, Superintendent of Police:

DEAR SIR—After reading the report of Master in Chancery Windes in relation to the holding of public meetings, I instructed the Corporation Counsel to convey to the Court the idea that if the Court believes under the evidence that the Arbeiter Bund has a legal and lawful right to hold public meetings, we wish the Court so to declare; and if the officers of the city have been exercising unusual authority, they should be so advised, as for they do not intend to act illegally or deprive any person of his rights upon a mere technicality.

We do not propose, under any circumstances, to deprive any class of citizens of their constitutional rights, but the Police Department must necessarily be governed by experience. It is your duty to inquire, if you believe a man is about to commit a murder or a burglary, or any other criminal offense, and to take steps to prevent such act. As the public is not in possession of the information that the Police Depart ment has, it is impossible for the community to determine what the real intention of the Anarchist organizations may be.

The good order of the society, and life and property are in your hands. We do not desire to again experience difficulties like those we have had in the past. We must not offer en couragement to such meetings and such projectings as the Supreme Court of this State has said led up to the Haymarket riot, and the unfortunate consequences; and it is to be hoped that the courts will draw the line in a definite way, so that we may have instructions, and if we have not sufficient authority under existing laws, the responsibility must rest with others and not with us. All departments of the city government should act strictly in conformity with the law as laid down by the courts.

Physician Thinks That Ira Seyler May Have Been Murdered.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CLARION, January 1 .- Ira Seylor, better known as"Fisher," employed at the Loomis House, became intoxicated last evening and was found in a barn this morning in a dving condition. Medical skill was of no avail, and he died to-day, the attending physician thinks from concussion of the brain. If true it is a mystery whether it was caused by accident or by foul means. A post morten will show whether the physician is right or whether the effect of the liquor killed him.

"Swipsey, my deah boy, what do you propose to weah to dinnah to-day?" asked 'English," the dude, after he and Swipes had retired for the night, or rather the norning, on the floor of the mailing room of a newspaper office. : They had been out celebrating the death of the old and the birth of the new year, and Swipes was not in the best humor as he had picked up a live Jackson cracker on Fifth avenue by the wrong end. He didn't know it was loaded until after he had recovered from the shock of the explosion. "Wear? My clo'es, of course!" he gruffly

"English" was surprised at Swipsey's answer, but said: "Do you know I wore my dwess suit last yeah, and those vulgah boys threw pie at me and ruined it."
"Well, dey ought to. You'se looks like man who owes himself money. Here's your hat." "English" was silenced, and closed his eyes to dream of a substantial dinner, although he was in the habit of saying he did not approve of New Year feasts.

WHAT IT MEANT. The thirtieth annual dinner to the newsboys and bootblacks, which was the event alluded to, was given at the Grand Central Rink by the Leader Publishing Company yesterday afternoon. About 800 boys accepted the invitation and thoroughly en-joyed the hospitality. They formed in line in the rear of the Leader office. Captain in the rear of the Leader office. Captain John Haney was in charge. A drum corps headed the procession. The boys marched down Fifth avenue in a glorious frame of mind. Every familiar friend was greeted with cries and sayings peculiar to a shiner's vocabulary, and woe to the man against whom they had a spite, as he suffered a thousand tortures while these young imps made it interesting for the spectators. The boys arrived at the rink in some kind of order.

The building was packed, and many were turned away. The Cathedral Band occupied the music stand, and played selections. The audience enjoyed the tricks of the boys. The connecters knew it, and there was a reason for their extraordinary behavior.

The bill of fare was an excellent one, and included the delicacies that usually com-plete a holiday dinner. When the boys had finished the first course they amused themselves by PLAYING A DEVIL'S TATTOO on their plates. One tap was the signal, and almost instantly 500 boys were hammer-ing away on their plates as if their very exing away on their plates as if their very existence depended upon the noise they made.

The dessert was enjoyed most. A smiling waiter would start along the line with a basket of cakes, handing one to each boy. That was too slow for them. A dirty hand would suddenly dive into the basket and seize a cake. The waiter would endeavor to remonstrate; but as he looked toward the effective a decree hand, were in suddent of to remonstrate, but as he looked toward the offender, a dozen hands were in and out of the basket, again loaded with spoils. Then a good little boy would be given a cookey. He would thank the attendant, dodge around his back, cram the cake in his pocket, and smilingly beg for a second, and get it.

eatables were taken by hand. It may not be the height of fashion to scoop cranberry sauce into one's mouth with one hand while one reaches for the oysters in the soup with the other; but it is evidently the height 13 days.

that was the best news in the paper hap-pened in Korea and not in the city. He asked for pie. The boy nearest to that pastry passed it to him in much the same manner as a center fielder puts a ball to the

FRIGHTFULLY PIED. As the little darkey opened his mouth and rolled up his eyes, before closing two rows of teeth upon it, a piece of pie, from which the top had been removed, struck him in the face. He spluttered and gasped for breath. A second piece struck him on the cheek, while a third filled one of his ears. This was too much, and he dropped under the table. When his face appeared above the edge, as he cautiously arose, then an apple, thrown by no weak hand, struck him in the eye, and down he went, only to come up again several feet away, a little broken up, but still ready for more pie. When the first table was finished, the boys started on a run to leave the building by a side entrance, which opens into a nar-row alley. Here a battle was fought with row alley. Here a battle was fought with pies, apples, and cakes as weapons.

Captain W. Fullwood was manager of the dinner. Three long tables were placed in the hall, and every effort was made to make the dinner a success. The crowd of boys was so large, however, that it was necessary to divide them into two sections. Part of the first half got itself intentionally entangled with the second half, and many ate two simply enormous dinners.

That the boys enjoyed it, is certain. It is a bright spot in the dreariness of their lives. To their credit it may be said that their behavior yesterday was not so bad as it has sometimes been.
